Report Progress In Mill Dispute

MacArthur Favored Red Entry Into Jap War

Secret Papers Give Viewpoint For Mid-1945

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Pentagon made public today long-secret documents reporting that Gen. Douglas MacArthur favored Russia's entry into the war with Japan as late as June, 1945—less than three months before the war ended.

MacArthur has said he was "most emphatically" against bringing the Soviet union into the conflict at the time of the Yalta conference in February, 1945, and would have said so if his advice had been asked.

Views Not Solicited

The newly released documents, part of a Defense Department study of Russia's 11th hour entry into the war, contain nothing intended to confirm or refute the former Far Eastern commander's statement last March that his views were not solicited for the Yalta conference.

In New York, MacArthur's office said he was out of town and not expected back until late in the evening. The office added that he is not expected to comment on the documents before tomorrow at the earliest.

The Pentagon account says MacArthur was told of the Yalta decisions—that Russia would enter the war after V-E day in exchange for territorial concessions—by a War Department representative. And it quotes MacArthur as telling two official visitors shortly after Yalta:

1. The United States should make every effort to get Russia into the war before launching an attack on the Japanese mainland.

2. He felt it was inevitable that Russia would take over all of Manchuria, Korea and possibly part of North China, but believed Russia should "pay her way" by invading Japanese-held Manchuria as soon as possible after the defeat of Germany.

Quoted In Message

MacArthur himself is quoted as saying in a message to Gen. George C. Marshall, then Army chief of staff, in mid-June, 1945, that "sooner or later a decisive ground attack must be made" against Japan and that:

"The hazard and loss will be greatly lessened if an attack is launched from Siberia sufficiently ahead of our target date to commit the enemy to major combat."

The department said today the survey, composed of official documents, was issued "in response to inquiries by members of the Congress and the press," adding it does not tell "the full story" of Russia's entry into the war since some aspects of the subject were handled outside the War and Navy Departments.

Narcotics Agents Seize 98 Persons; Cop Is Suspended

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—Philadelphia police, aided by state and federal law enforcement officers, rounded up 98 persons today in a series of raids aimed at wiping out traffic in narcotics.

Today's raid was the second this year. Last spring, some 90 narcotics users and sellers were seized.

At the conclusion of the raids, the spotlight turned in a different direction. Commissioner Thomas Gibbons announced that a rookie policeman was suspended after a charge was made that the new cop had tipped off some narcotics peddlers that they were being investigated by undercover agents. The suspended policeman is Robert Hackett, 25, a member of the force since May 16.

SECOND CROP—This field of oats on the Mrs. Sarah Everett farm, Brodheadville, had been harvested once by combine operation in August. It reseeded at that time and produced a stand of grain thicker than the original. Ernest Keller, 87, shown here examining the second crop, said he has never known of such a heavy reproduction of oats. Joe Millman, asst. superintendent of highways and Mrs. Everett's son-in-law, said the original crop was very heavy.

Sheriff Predicts Solution To Slaying Of Three Boys

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—The possibility of a quick solution to the ghastly slaying of three boys was foreseen tonight by Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman.

Lohman said he had assigned 37 investigators to specific lines of inquiry and added:

"Their efforts should either produce a quick solution to this case or narrow our path of investigation to a great deal."

The sheriff withheld details of the leads his men were checking.

New Information

Various bits of fresh information spurred the widespread search for the savage killer or killers earlier in the day.

Police made progress, both in point of time and distance, in filling in the gap in the young victims' last hours.

A bus driver told of taking them Sunday night to a point about four miles from where their naked bodies were found yesterday in Robinson woods west of the city.

The boys—Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11—had been traced earlier to two bowling alleys they had visited Sunday evening. They left the second alley about 8 p.m.

Bruno Mencarini, a Chicago Transit Authority driver, reported today that the trio boarded his bus at 8:55 p.m. Sunday.

Unusually Quiet

"They were quiet—that's unusual for kids," Mencarini recalled. "They were talking about going bowling. They had been to one alley but it was filled up and they were looking for another."

The youths got off about four

U.S. Economy Rolling At Record Rate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The American economy loomed along at a record rate of 392 billion dollars a year during the third quarter of 1955, President Eisenhower's economic advisers reported today.

A sharp upswing in personal spending accounted largely for the increase of 7½ billion dollars in the July-September rate of production of goods and services.

If the pace continues, the total 1955 national product—a key gauge of economic conditions—would come close to 400 billion dollars. This would compare with slightly more than 31 billion at the end of the depression 16 years ago, and would almost double the immediate postwar figure of 209½ billion in 1946.

The high for any past year was 365 billion in 1953. Last year the dollar value of all goods and services was 357 billion.

President Eisenhower has said the national economy should expand to 500 billion a year in the next decade. Some economists contend that's too low.

It followed a Commerce Department report earlier this week that bolstered hopes voiced by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey for a budget-balancing this fiscal year which might lead to tax reduction next year. The Commerce announcement set total earnings of individuals and businesses during the April-June quarter at a new high rate of 321 billion a year.

Unions Agree To Put Issues Before Coates

ISSUES in the jurisdictional dispute between the AFL Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers Union and the AFL Building and Construction Trades Council apparently were received yesterday.

The dispute arose over the question of which group had the right to do certain phases of reconstruction work at the flood-battered Coates Board & Carton Co. plant at Minisink Hills.

Representatives of the opposing factions met yesterday to discuss their differences. After that session, Ralph Paul, a building trades spokesman, said definite progress had been made.

"Rests With Company"

"We discussed the problems involved," he said. "And it is my opinion that there no longer is any dispute between the building trades and the Pulp and Sulphite Workers."

"Everything now rests with the company," he contended.

Paul said union representatives met briefly yesterday with S. L. Neider, a company official, and outlined their position. Issues discussed were not disclosed. It was agreed that representatives of the company and the unions would meet together tomorrow morning in hopes of settling the matter.

In the meantime, the building trades will continue to picket the Minisink Hills plant, he disclosed.

Regular employees were back at their jobs again yesterday, Neider said. And it's expected they will report for work again today—despite the picket line.

Union Agents Meet

Employees of Paul Edinger, Strodsburg contractor, have refused to cross the picket lines. Edinger was awarded a $70,000 contract for reconstruction work at the plant.

At yesterday's meeting, Paul and Earl Kocher, business agents Pike-Monroe Building Trades Council, discussed issues in the dispute with Henry Segal, Philadelphia, pulp workers international agent.

"Mr. Segal had a very different picture," said Paul, "than actually existed here."

Earlier, it had been reported that it would take between a week to 10 days before a top-level ruling could be expected in the dispute from AFL officials in Washington.

However, Paul made it clear last night that the dispute could be settled immediately after the company agrees to terms set down by the building trades.

'Post Card Girl' Dies Undergoing Brain Operation

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—The "post card girl" died today on a hospital operating table where she had gone courageously a few hours earlier—unafraid and "in good spirits."

Marjorie Lee Elder, 12-year-old Lewistown, Pa., junior high school student, succumbed at Children's Hospital where a team of surgeons had tried a delicate operation to remove a calcium deposit from her brain.

The operation hadn't worried the brave little girl whose only request had been to get "lots of cards" to fill her scrapbook.

The story was not overlooked by newspaper readers and radio listeners and during Marjorie's two-week stay in the hospital she had received more than 8,000 cards. Several thousand other cards were sent to her Lewistown home.

DL&W Delays Restoration Of Service

PLANS TO restore service on Lackawanna Railroad lines through here were stymied yesterday.

Workmen and engineers ran work trains across Bell's Bridge near Minisink and at the Devil's Hole fill. A local company spokesman said last night that no new estimate has been made for restoration of service.

Tracks in the Devil's Hole area were slightly washed out by heavy rains over the weekend. The company cancelled service pending a complete check of tracks running through the area where rains fell.

Dulles, Ike Share Hope For Big 4 Success

By Douglas B. Cornell

DENVER, Oct. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that President Eisenhower shares with him a "measured hope" for concrete progress at the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Geneva on issues dividing East and West.

Dulles got Eisenhower's final "counsel and advice" on the conference opening Oct. 27 in a 25-minute meeting with the chief executive at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

Then, at a news conference at the Denver White House, the secretary said that while he doesn't expect "spectacular results," he does think that he and the British, French and Soviet foreign ministers will make "concrete progress toward unification of Germany within a framework of European security."

Looks For Progress

He said he also looks for definite progress on increased contacts between East and West and on clearing away some of the misunderstandings that seem to have arisen over the disarmament issue.

It was the second Eisenhower-Dulles meeting since the President's Sept. 21 heart attack. The first was a week ago yesterday.

With the doctors continuing to report that Eisenhower is making satisfactory headway without complications, Dulles said that he found "very distinct evidence of more vigor—more vigorous health." He said the President's mind was as vigorous as it could be at their last meeting and "this time there was more evidence of physical robustness."

Actor John Hodiak Suffers Fatal Heart Attack At 41

TAEZANA, Calif., Oct. 19 (AP)—Actor John Hodiak died unexpectedly today of a heart attack. He was 41.

The handsome, resonant-voiced star collapsed in the bathroom of the home where he lived with his parents, sister and brother. He had been up an hour, complaining of gas, with his sister and mother.

The actor was due back this morning at 20th Century-Fox studio where he was working in a film called "Threshold of Space." He was playing a character similar to Lt. Col. John P. Stapp, Air Force surgeon who specializes in rocket-sled experiments in aviation medicine for the Air Research and Development Command.

Hodiak returned last week from location work at Holloman Air Force Base, N. M. He had virtually completed his role.

Hodiak appears on film to ride the sled at 632 mph but actually only rode the sled for closeups.

Workers Launch Industry Phase Of Chest Drive

MONROE COUNTY Community Chest moves into the third key phase of its 1955-56 campaign this morning.

At 9 a. m. employees of local industry will begin getting their pledge cards for the current drive. The cards will be distributed by Emerson Stanton, head of labor's effort in the campaign and Walter S. Peeney, industrial chairman.

The Community Chest was given full, wholehearted support by organized labor earlier this month in a meeting of the Central Labor Union in East Stroudsburg. Individual unions have pledged their support to the Chest in its current drive.

Two other divisions of the Chest campaign are now working. These are the special gifts and the "early bird" phases. Reports from those divisions will be heard Monday night at the Chest's annual "kick-off" dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Matching Contributions

One part of the industrial division has already been "in the works" for several days. This is in the field of corporate gifts. Numerous industries have been contacted by Peeney or his workers with a request for Chest contributions from the industry itself.

In many cases, during the past, industries have pledged to "match" the total amount given by employees of their plant. This "matching" contribution system is still in effect in some industries, Chest officials said yesterday.

Chief workers in the industrial labor division are Peeney and Stanton and the following: H. G. Sanborn Jr., John Farley, William Wyckoff, Paul Dellaria, Robert Wright and Cliff Cramer. Their workers have been recruited from all levels of labor and management.

Pledge cards which are given to the workers and companies contain the names of all agencies of the Community Chest. The amount of money to be allotted to each agency from the Chest's goal is also stated.

Check Agencies

In making out a pledge any donors are allowed to check the agencies to which he would like his contribution allotted.

On the eve of the industrial-labor phase of the drive, Stanton and Peeney expressed great praise for the way in which both sections have responded to the needs of the Chest in the current campaign. Both men thanked their workers for the planning which has gone into this phase of the drive and urged all persons contacted by solicitors to respond by "giving more than ever before if possible since the needs of the Chest this year will be much greater."

Stanton said that organized labor and workers themselves have joined in the Chest drive in "excellent spirit." The feeling of cooperation and a genuine desire to make the Chest goal a wonderful one, Stanton said. He expressed the hope that every person in labor will respond to the call for contributions when asked.

Draft Deferment Policy Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—A Pentagon official, clarifying draft plans, said today no decision has been made to stop inducting older men and fathers.

Carter L. Burgess, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, said also it would not be advisable to release men already drafted in these categories.

Burgess discussed Selective Service policies in a letter to Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), which the senator made public.

U. N. Deadlocks On Yugoslavia, Philippines

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The Philippines, firmly backed by the United States, fought to a drive today with Communist Yugoslavia in the second round of voting for a U. N. Security Council seat.

Faced with a deadlock for the second time, the U. N. Assembly wrangled heatedly for two hours and then approved, 29-8, an American proposal to vote for seats on the Economic and Social Council and the Trusteeship Council. The date for the next balloting on the Security Council was not set.

This represented a victory for Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate. Yugoslavia long has been a candidate for the Economic and Social Council. The Yugoslavs, supported by the British Commonwealth and the Soviet Union, formally announced their candidacy for the council today.

Prestige At Stake

Lodge, who has made this contest a matter of prestige for the United States, and the Philippine delegate, Carlos P. Romulo, were jubilant at the Assembly decision to pass on to other voting. The Yugoslav delegation, which actually would like to hold places on both councils, was glum.

Yugoslavia was elected to the Economic and Social Council on the second ballot, receiving 46 votes. Three countries were elected on the first ballot. They were the United States 59 votes, Canada 48 and Indonesia 44.

Soviets Offer Proposal For Atomic Agency

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The Soviet Union has proposed to the United States that the Big Five—United States, Britain, France, China and Russia—be designated permanent members of the board of governors of an international atomic energy agency.

The Russians also want India, Indonesia, Egypt and Communist-dominated Romania to be named to the first board of governors. Canada, which has played a leading atomic role from the start, is not mentioned.

This was disclosed in the text of the Soviet communication replying to a note from the United States giving the proposed status of the agency expected to direct the atom-for-peace program laid down by President Eisenhower.

Conference Urged

A copy of the confidential document became available as the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee debated proposals for setting up the proposed agency. Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), U. S. delegate on the committee, put before the delegates a revised resolution suggesting an international conference be called to approve the statute after it is drafted.

The Soviet plan differs from the United States' in this manner: The United States wants the United States, Britain, France, Canada and the Soviet Union to be the central part of the board. It wants Australia, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Portugal, and South Africa to be named also to the board of governors in a less important category than the five primary atomic powers.

Hotel Workers Strike

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 19 (AP)—This capital city's two major hotels—the Stacy-Trent and the Hildebrecht—curtailed services today following a strike by members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union AFL.

Chest Campaign Given Boost Through Contributions Voted By Industry And Foundation

TWO THINGS happened in the Community Chest campaign this week. Both of them were noted with gratitude. Each was inspiring in its own way.

One was a pledge from Worthington Mower Co. management. Signed by H. G. Sanborn, the pledge offered a $2,000 contribution to this year's Chest campaign.

Worthington Mower was one of the hardest-hit of all industrial plants in the August 18 flood. Flood waters surged through the factory, damaged equipment and kept workers busy for weeks cleaning out and getting ready to go back into production.

Both workers and management were determined, from the beginning, that the setback should be temporary. Once the water was gone the plant turned toward the task of recovery without hesitation. It was a story repeated again and again in industrial plants in The Stroudsburgs.

Inspires Workers
When the time came for the company's pledge to the Chest, the spirit prevailed again. Worthington Mower's pledge for $2,000 is exactly the same as the company's pledge for Chest drives during each of the past two years.

The fact that the pledge was unchanged was an inspiration to Chest workers. Here was a firm which had suffered heavy damage in the flood—a disaster which set some plants and families back on their financial heels.

Yet when the chips were down in the Chest drive, the plant responded by holding its contribution at its previous level, a level established in a year when no disaster had hit and production had not been stunted.

The second major occurrence came in the form of a check from S. S. Kresge Foundation for $1,500. The contribution was 400 per cent greater than last year's gift from Kresge.

Increase Gifts
During the past two weeks, Chest officials have found that many individuals and firms are increasing their gifts to the agencies which make up the Community Chest.

This has been—and continues to be—one of the main points of the present Chest campaign. The point was made first by Chest president Elton P. Hall when he called for a special emergency fund of $20,000.

This $20,000 fund is needed to finance the extra burden of responsibility which will fall on Chest agencies in the aftermath of the flood—the products of the broken homes, the temporary homelessness.

It has been repeatedly pointed out by Clifford Gilliam, coordinator for the 1955-56 Chest campaign, Gilliam emphasized from the beginning that more money will be needed and must be raised. Since some persons may not be able to give this year because of the flood's effect on their families or businesses, all the other persons in the county are being asked to give more than ever before.

Hopeful Signs
There were many hopeful signs in the reports given so far to the Chest this year. Many contributions showed increases. And two of the most encouraging signs of all were the pledge from Worthington Mower Co. and the $1,500 gift from S. S. Kresge Foundation.

Doll Safety Project Voted By Jaycees

NEW PROJECTS were discussed Tuesday night at a regular meeting of the Pocono Jaycees.

Newest of the programs undertaken by the chapter is a "Doll Safety" project with Louis Krieg and Bob Widner as co-chairmen. The project is designed to acquaint first and second graders in Monroe County schools with simple rules of safety.

A series of six "cut-outs" are given to teachers in these grades in a special kit for children. The pupils get a new "cut-out" each week. These are to be colored by the children.

Program Begins Soon
Club spokesmen said last night that the project will begin as soon as information is cleared with the county superintendents' office so that the proper number of kits may be turned over to schools.

In conjunction with the safety program the local chapter plans to ask The Daily Record to run a series of "safety strips"—comic strips with a message on safety.

Members heard a report on recent State Jaycee board meetings at Bradford from William Johnson, Johnson is secretary of the local chapter and is chairman of the State Jaycees Interchapter Relations Committee.

The local chapter plans to make a bid for the State Jaycees teenage Golf Tournament to be held in this area. The annual inter-change bowling competition was also discussed at the meeting.

New Members Inducted
Four new members—Jack Conigan, Bill Frear, David Crane and

Mail Bag Found Suspended Term Given To Finder

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Oct. 19 (AP)—Kenneth Sproul, 31, of Saint John received a year's suspended sentence today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of delaying the mails.

Last Thursday a mail bag containing $10,000, mostly in United States currency, fell off a mail truck.

Sproul, following the truck in his car, turned the bag over to police and postal authorities—but not until Saturday morning. Its contents were intact.

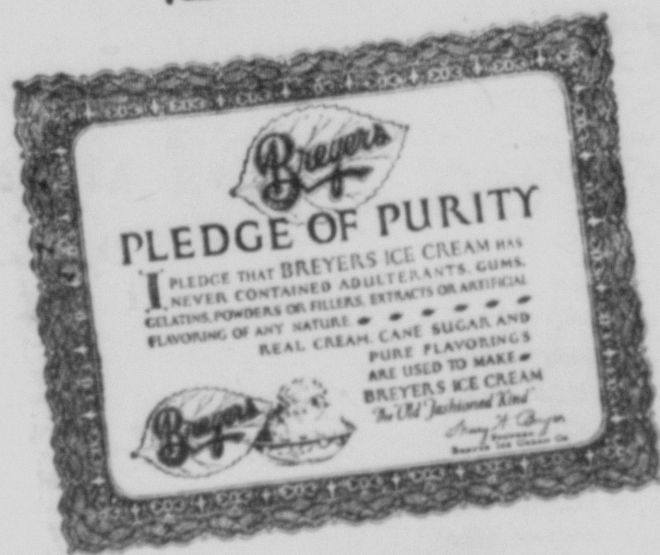

Magistrate H. S. Prince warned Sproul: "In the future, any time you see mail of any type, make it a point to turn it over to the nearest police officer if there is no post office nearby."

1 cup finely cut celery	1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 medium onion, chopped	1 1/2 cups Lehigh Valley Sour Cream
1 pint, minced

1 large frying chicken, 3 to 3 1/2 pounds	1/2 cup water
	1 pint (1 cup) Lehigh Valley Sour Cream

Melt butter in heavy frying pan with tight fitting cover. Add onions and cook over very low heat until onions lose crispness. Pull onions to one side of pan. Add chicken cut in pieces for serving and sprinkle heavily with paprika. Cook slowly for about 5 minutes (does not need to brown). Turn. Add more paprika until chicken is well coated. (Paprika depends upon its color rather than its flavor for its mark of distinction.) Add bayleaf, salt and 1/2 cup of water. Cover tightly. Cook very slowly for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender. To prevent sticking, add a bit of water if necessary. Spoon the sour cream over the chicken, cover and cook slowly 8 to 10 minutes more. Stir the cream down into the paprika sauce. Arrange chicken on warm platter and pour sauce over all.

Its purpose is to honor the young men of St. John's Church who have entered the Lutheran ministry. Their names appear upon the plaque as follows: Rev. Charles S. Koehler, Rev. Frederick W. ## Annual Review Held By Boys Of Scout Unit

TOBYHANNA — Annual charter review for Boy Scout Troop 91 was held at the home of Rev. Donald G. Nowers Monday night.

The meeting was conducted by Maj. James Howard with the assistance of Dr. Francis B. McGarry. Other adult advisers present were Alfred Huey, scoutmaster; Joseph Rice Sr., troop committee chairman; Lawrence O. Reitz and Rev. Nowers, members of the committee.

A survey of work done during the past year showed that the boys had taken part in a total of 14 days and nights of outdoor camping. A wienie roast was held for members of the committee. A special program honoring the mothers of boys in the troop was held last April 13. A father's night program was conducted in June.

Expand Committee
The troop spent some time at Camp Weygadt where members worked on a special conservation project, the report said. A decision was made to add more members to the troop committee and secure at least one assistant Scoutmaster. Plans for a "mobilization" project and a camp saving fund were drawn up at the meeting.

Maj. Howard reported that several boys have now qualified for a higher rank and will be honored at a special court of honor. The following boys are active members of the troop:

John Rock, Bill Chalmers, Bill Yalowsky, Wayne Hussar, Emmett Hussar, Robert Pope, George Howard, Lloyd Albrecht, William Beeher, A. J. Bittner, Edwin L. Bigger, James H. Frutchey Jr., James E. Hay, Clifford C. Olsen, Robert C. Pope, Frank Moore and Michael J. Pope.

Leland Cramer, supervising principal of the local school, has announced dates of two annual events: the Junior class play on Friday, December 2 and open house, including the annual PTA "penny supper" on Friday, December 16.

Officials of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post No. 859, American Legion, have indicated that the Post is interested in transferring salvage rights to their property to interested parties. Proposals should be directed to Robert Baughman, South Sterling, or Dr. Robert Rochford, Sterling.

Friday's heavy rains washed out three temporary bridges or their approaches across the Wallenpaupack creek. They were the sluiceways near Hemlock Lodge, South Sterling, near the former Salathe bridge, Newfoundland and near the A. V. Clarke property north of Newfoundland. Also damaged by the rain were two temporary roads around washouts on Route 507 between Newfoundland and Gouldsboro.

Birthday celebrants this week include: Sunday—Blanche Sebring, Frank Butler, Linda Lee Zielinski; Monday—Eugene Frank; Tuesday—Ralph Wert, Emogene Schoenagel; Wednesday—Clemence Wilson, Helen Feigel, Barry John Butler, Dick Harlow; Thursday—Jack Ayers, Alice Evans, Paul Birdsell, Carroll Paul Daly, Theresa Georgetti; Friday—Charles Frey; Saturday—Ruth McKay, Michael Kurzforfer, Ruth Phillips.

Toll-Road Network On Federal Level Might Ease Controversy In Congress

United States Senator James H. Duff, ardent disciple of a comprehensive network of highways linking all areas of the United States, has called for a system of Federal toll roads as a practical and effective start in meeting the nation's highway needs.

This, the former Governor of Pennsylvania claims, will go far to meet the country's requirements without increasing the presently "almost extortionate" fuel taxes.

Duff, speaking before representatives of a bridge, tunnel and turnpike association, was vehement in his declaration that if the problem of ever-increasing congestion on trunk highways is to be solved promptly without undue burden on the already harassed local and Federal taxpayers, the only answer is self-liquidating turnpikes.

Mindful of the widespread pessimism attending the pioneering construction of the famed Pennsylvania Turnpike, Senator

Duff reviewed the financial success of that highway and predicted that toll highways at the Federal level would bypass difficult problems that delayed highway legislation at the last session of Congress.

We hope the senator is correct in his diagnosis of the ills that beset the burgeoning expansion of toll highways throughout the land, and that proper analysis of area requirements will provide the toll roads where there is no doubt of their self-liquidation.

Whether or not the Congress will pass such legislation as the Pennsylvania senator describes remains to be seen, but on the strength of the several states' success in building and operating such roads there would appear to be every reason for similar success under Federal planning and patronage.

In any case, we agree the cost should not be hung on increased fuel taxes.

German Invasion Of American Auto Field Poses New, Interesting Problem

Proportionate to the tremendous volume of production of automobiles made in the United States, the influx of small foreign cars is about like a gnat to an elephant.

Last year some 25,000 of these little vehicles were bought in the United States while Detroit turned out its domestic models by the many millions, and thus far this year the percentage remains virtually the same.

Possibly the most amazing development in the small car world is the resurgence of German manufacture through expansion of the Volkswagen, the beetle-like vehicle first brought out during Hitler's regime but never reaching real production until General Motors-trained Heinz Nordhoff applied American methods to his new factories, growing almost by the day.

This year in our own automotive world we will probably exceed a production goal of eight million cars, even though the industry now has the capacity to produce 10 million cars annually, even without overtime. Our own builders insist that the demand for small cars, while increasing, is still not great enough to justify them in dusting off their long-developed blueprint for a domestic model.

What will be the future of the German invasion of the motor market remains to be seen, but that it will be considerable is indicated by Nordhoff's purchase of a New Brunswick plant for Volkswagen manufacture in the United States.

Obviously most Americans want really big cars despite parking and garaging complications, plus the ever-increasing traffic jams, but this doesn't discourage the Germans. They are content with their increasing sale of the tiny beetle-like vehicles, no matter what the average American thinks of them.

George Sokolsky Says...

Young Never Without Controversies; Old And Tired Turn To Comic Strips

I was sitting with some newspapermen recently and the point was made that there are not enough controversies in the newspapers. Another added the opinion that the reason why there are not so many controversies is that people are happy that after years of quarrelling over the New Deal and War and Communism, folks are glad to have some peaceful relief.

It all depends upon the generation. Older folks can grow very disputatious about the vile manners of the younger generations and surely their manners are not Chesterfieldian. A Beau Brummel of the present era seems to be a fellow in knee pants with a black coat and a pink shirt. To the sober, he resembles the sort of pink thing one might see from drinking too much Irish whiskey or undiluted vodka. Young men resist neckties or wear them open at the throat, and as for the girls—Heavens to Betsy!

But if one is among the quite young, he can get himself into an argument on the virtues of Dixieland Jazz, or the superiority of Bach over the Romantics, or the need for a 1950-1960 F. Scott Fitzgerald, a novelist who will understand this age, or the need for a religious emotional expression.

Politics! Well, really the younger people wonder what the older people get so excited about. "Define for me," shouts youth, "the precise difference between a Republican and a Democrat." "I want no loose oratory," says youth. "Tell me with precision of thought and language what the difference is between an Eisenhower Republican or a Taft Republican or between Stevenson and Harriman. If you can't be precise, I'll vote for Margaret Truman or Princess Margaret or any Margaret. What difference does it really make?"

The last great issue that excited youth was Joe McCarthy. They were violently for or against McCarthy and their violence was full of excitement and dispute. But they are not arguing that way about anything now, not even about Peron's baby hammer or whether Ingrid Bergman should be admitted into the United States to do a picture and restore her fortune. None of this excites the young.

In my day, when I was very young, we could get up an argument about Woman Suffrage but we all, old and young, know now that women have not purified politics. In fact, let's face it, politics seems to make women more like what the women used to believe men were like in the old days.

So no one talks about what has happened to the emancipated woman. I recently raised the question with teen-aged girls but they had never heard about the emancipation of women. They expected to find a guy who would support them as best he might, but they did not expect too much and figured that they would have to work for a living for a longer time than their mothers did, but it was on account of taxation.

One can start plenty of controversies because they exist but they are more personal than general. What about delayed marriages on account of conscription? There is something that gets young people so sore that they do not delay the marriages at all. They get married as soon as they can, even while at school, and hope, for the best, is it good?

There is a controversy that might have run in the newspapers for months in the old days, with all the great of the Earth speaking pro and con and advising all and sundry. And there would be photographs of student families on every campus and the professors sounding off on whether these married students work better than boys and girls who go necking on a Friday night.

What is important? How does anyone expect that he can say what interests him most. The followers of Father Feeney in Boston are young; Tanglewood attracts the young who can fight through the night on why Handel's "Water Music" is ruined by most orchestras; at Jimmy Ryan's, youth listens to Dixieland Jazz and says, "It is music; in the M.R.A., youth is on a permanent religious revival.

No controversies! If one is young, there is never a moment without one. The real trouble is that the adult generation has grown too old and too tired and too bored to care. Youth is the comic strip which was originally done for children, while the children know exactly what E. equals MC square means.

'REMAINS' OF ADOLF HITLER

My America —by Harry Boyd
Congressmen Should Travel More In Their Own Nation

There has been a lot of bellyaching about the strong penchant of congressmen for gallivanting around the world at the taxpayers' expense.

This griping is justified insofar as it is directed at the false pretenses under which much of the traveling is done. Certain government funds can be used legitimately to pay travel expenses of congressmen who are abroad on official business. But all the official business the average congressman has to transact abroad he could stick in his eye and still have room for a haystack.

People have a right to holler about paying the freight on a congressman who professes to be handling important government business overseas when as a matter of fact he is just gawking around over there.

But that's only because he's chiseling on them. It doesn't follow that, if the things were on the up-and-up, it wouldn't be worth the money for the taxpayers to pick up the tab on honest, undisguised gawking tours for congressmen.

Many congressmen are broad in the wrong places. More travel would tend to broaden them in the right places, notably between the ears.

If nothing else it would reveal to them a great many things they didn't already know. And in some cases it might even suggest to them that there may be other things in this world that they don't know.

All this would give them a better perspective on their official business, when they got around to it.

It might be even better if subsidized travel for congressmen were confined largely to the United States. It is on domestic problems that the nation's lawmakers are apt to consider themselves best informed. A turn around the country every now and then would convince them that even in this field their knowledge is on the sketchy side.

The best possible democratic government would come from having all the people get around the country frequently and see for themselves how big it is, how many different kinds of people live in it and how varied and plentiful their problems are. Unfortunately that's out of the question.

So the next best thing would be for their chosen representatives to travel around more and really get the feel of the country. The resulting improvement in legislative judgment and vision would be well worth whatever it cost. In fact, the cost should be easily offset by the reduction in tax money now allocated to pay for blunders based on legislative provincialism.

Naturally some restrictions would have to be placed on any intentional authorization of travel expenses for congressmen. Possibly there would need to be a proviso that all itinerant statesmen must wear muzzles. Otherwise they might never stop talking long enough to see anything.

And of course there'd be no sense in putting out any additional money to promote more talk by congressmen.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Tourists in Hawaii who ask how Waikiki Beach got its name are solemnly informed that a Chinese visitor calmly went swimming one day on an exclusive beach clearly marked "KAPU" (Hawaiian for "Keep out"). He was chased once, but didn't understand a word the guard was saying, so he promptly returned. The second time he was booted off the beach badly. He picked himself up indignantly, and demanded, "Why kicky?"

If the tourists believe that one, Hawaiians have a hundred even more preposterous whoppers to try out on them.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Humphrey Key Figure During Ike's Illness

Washington — President Eisenhower opened his talk with Treasury Secretary Humphrey with a question that was clearly uppermost in his thoughts.

It was — "How is the team doing?"

"It's doing extremely well, Mr. President," replied Humphrey heartily. "Everything is going along smoothly, harmoniously and efficiently. When you get back, I know you will be well satisfied with the way the team is functioning."

"That's very gratifying and comforting," beamed the President. "It takes a big load off my mind."

The President's question is doubly significant, because of its nature and the cabinet member who was asked it.

For Secretary Humphrey is the key member of the team.

The Treasury chief has quietly and effectively filled this momentous role since the President's health reached the point where he became ill. That decision was reached at the historic luncheon meeting in Humphrey's office, attended by Vice President Nixon, Attorney General Brownell, and White House secretary Sherman Adams.

Later this operating plan for the team was unanimously endorsed by the full cabinet and the National Security Council.

Following is the way this eventful system works:

Each cabinet member has full responsibility for the policies and administration of his agency. He has complete sway over everything—with one all-important exception.

This crucial limitation is the purse strings of his department.

Final word on that is in the hands of Treasury Secretary Humphrey.

His is the last word on all money matters, both as to spending under the current budget and preparation of the new one, now underway. On these vital factors the team consults with and is guided by Humphrey.

This arrangement has the full backing of the President. It's in thorough accord with his views and wishes. Humphrey has long been foremost in the President's councils.

Note: The National Security Council acts as arbiter on any differences over foreign policy. Otherwise, Secretary of State Dulles has a free hand in this field. He is the senior cabinet member on the Council.

The Council — To assist cabinet members, and other agency heads, Attorney General Brownell has compiled a special "legal brief" on what they can and can't do without express approval of the President.

The intent is to avoid challenges and court tests.

Preparation of this important guide was also one of the decisions made at the luncheon meeting in Secretary Humphrey's office. Later, Brownell explained it in detail at several cabinet meetings, presided by Vice President Nixon. Brownell stressed that the enumeration of cabinet and other agency powers and authority is based on specific laws and statutes.

A revealing account of how the team is functioning has come from Assistant Attorney General Stanley Barnes. The head of Anti-Trust Division was extensively consulted in the drafting of the brief for the cabinet.

Following is what Barnes said: "Since the President has been ill, meetings of the cabinet and National Security Council have taken place. Out of these meetings came recommendations. . . . Every recommendation, I emphasize, was unanimous. I repeat that: every recommendation was unanimous. And since agreement was complete, important matters may be disposed of without the President's direct approval."

Note: George Allen, close personal friend of the President, who was visiting him in Denver when he became ill, doesn't think the President will "try to name his successor." Allen is saying "That isn't the way Ike operates. He isn't the dictating kind. He'll let the convention do the deciding." Allen is very certain the President will not run again.

Pentagon Change — The Army's General Staff is in process of a significant reorganization. G-1 (personnel) and G-3 (operations) will be elevated to three-star Deputy Chief of Staff status from their present two-star Assistant Chief of Staff level. They will be raised to the same rank given G-4 last year, when it was boosted to Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics. G-2 (intelligence) will remain unchanged, continuing as a two-star Assistant Chief of Staff. . . . The Air Force wants to do away with winter underwear as a required item of clothing issue. By doing that, the Air Force argues it can save $1,000,000 annually. The proposal has been put up to Defense Secretary Wilson. If he approves it, the Air Force will continue to issue winter underwear, but only where the climate requires it. . . . The Foreign Claims Settlement Commission is up against a difficult problem. It has to decide whether to pay the $2.50 per day Korean prisoners of war benefits Congress voted, to those POW under charges of misconduct while in enemy hands. So far the Commission has paid out $3,600,000 to 2,100 Korean veterans.

Conscientious objectors, during the Civil war, could buy their way out of the U.S. Army for $300.

Maxwell Attacks Road Loans —by H. G. Heller

"The proposal to blast away the ceiling on authority borrowing for highway construction is an invitation to race in high gear back into early 20th century financing," according to R. B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the AAA Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

referred to a proposal by Governor George Leader that the State Highway and Bridge Authority be permitted to borrow all sums necessary to cover any and all projects sponsored by legislators.

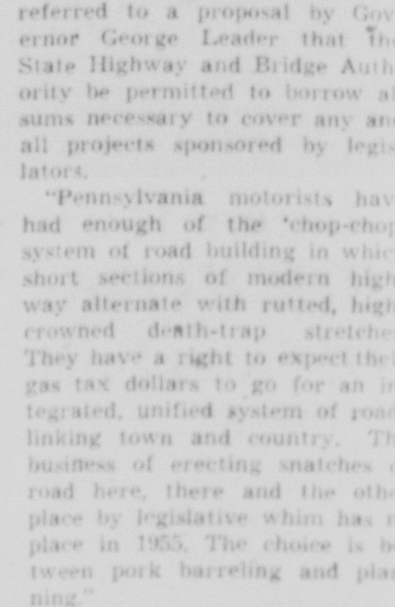

"Pennsylvania motorists have had enough of the 'chop-choy' system of road building in which short sections of modern highway alternate with rutted, high-crowned death-trap stretches. They have a right to expect their gas tax dollars to go for an integrated, unified system of roads linking town and country. The business of erecting snatches of road here, there and the other place by legislative whim has no place in 1955. The choice is between pork barreling and planning."

Wading into the proposal from another angle, Maxwell attacked the whole idea of deficit financing and authority borrowing to build highways for the State system. He stressed that the Commonwealth must pay both interest and repay the loan and that every cent paid for interest is a cent diverted from building highways.

"Already a politician has proposed that the State start by borrowing half a billion dollars through the Authority. Carrying another $500,000,000 would cost the gas tax fund about $50 million a year, or about half of the gas taxes now being collected by the State for general highway construction. That means that the money for construction of State highways, already a woefully inadequate amount, would be slashed in half this year and for twenty years to come."

"The Governor's 'blank check' proposal for unlimited borrowing," the Federation executive stressed, "opens the door for powerful pressures to channel huge sums of money to 'pet projects.' He warned that this can result in neglect of other areas which are unswerving or unable to bring equal pressure to bear on administrators of highway funds."

Maxwell said that his organization continues to support an adequate highway program carried out according to a careful state-wide plan. He emphasized the pressing need for maintaining and improving the 41,000 miles of State highways, including the 20,176 miles which are ineligible for Federal aid.

The Once Over —by H. I. Phillips

Miracle of the Fields
Autumn is Nature throwing a Mardi Gras, a fiesta, an art show and a harvest ball. In the sheer wizardry of leaf and blade there is showmanship and genius that make business-leaguers of the master window-dresser of the earth. The Sermon on the Mount is seen in every valley and on every hill. Here is April in reverse. May in her autumnal masquerade costume and June grown older and more regal. October stages the Coronation-in-the-Fields and the Durbar-on-the-Mountainsides. Maple, oak, sumac, chestnut and elm "do it in technicolor." . . . The first frost enameling the roof makes the old red barn stand out as a thing of rare beauty. Nature puts a crazy quilt around summer and seems to laugh at oncoming winter.

Looking at the Autumn you see . . . the spell of a farmyard cry, "This is it!" Now the most magnificent of all "electric" signboards blazes on every road. The letters are gold, crimson and russet and they plug a product beyond man's capacity to produce. "The power and the glory." The slogan blazing from leaves is in one simple word: "Believe!" The theme is "In My Father's house are many mansions." Out of this breath-taking panorama comes the message, "A little while, and now you shall not see me; and again a little while and you shall see me." October is a month of miracle transformations. Spring is the resurrection. Autumn is the pre-found and beautiful high mass, with every field an altar. October is the organ's crescendo, the grand climax to the fireworks festival, the Sousa March following the Mambo. It is "tape" sounded by treble bugles. October is a bride in the radiance of abiding love after the excitement of the honeymoon. It is the memory of a loved one in her most glorious gown. . . . the flashing recollection of some enduring and golden moment. . . . quiet hour after the park picnic.

Red Cross Flood Relief Commitments Approach $900,000

931 Cases Completed In County

CHARLES R. Bensinger, chairman of Monroe County Chapter American Red Cross said yesterday in his second report on disaster relief activities that Red Cross has completed 931 cases with financial commitments totaling $896,044.37.

The report comes almost nine weeks after the Aug. 18-19 flood and indicates only a very few cases are still in the hands of National Red Cross representatives sent in here after the flood with a large group of case workers.

Mr. Bensinger's report sets forth:

Many Problems
"Plans have been completed in 931 cases for the necessary assistance from the Red Cross to help the family in its recovery. For many of the families, that assistance which was given on an emergency basis represented all that they needed to reestablish themselves. For others, there were greater problems which necessitated detailed planning with the family by a Red Cross disaster worker. In the remaining seven cases, Red Cross disaster workers continue to work with the families in developing adequate plans for their future."

"Working closely with us in this effort is our local Disaster Advisory Committee composed of local citizens representing a good cross section of Monroe County. As plans for assisting families are completed, these plans are presented to the Advisory Committee for consideration and approval. One of the functions of this committee is to assist the Red Cross in planning adequately for the recovery of each family in keeping with the standards of the family and the community."

"Our present financial commitments total $896,044.37. Of this figure $130,663.53, represents expenditures made on an immediate emergency basis for such things as food, clothing, rent, household furnishings, medical care and any other items needed immediately by families. The remaining $765,380.84 represents assistance provided on a planned individual basis, including the rebuilding or repair of homes, provision of household furnishings, occupational supplies and equipment, medical and nursing care, and additional clothing and maintenance as needed."

Outright Gifts
"In every case, assistance from the Red Cross is an outright gift of the American people with absolutely no obligation for repayment. Through the medium of purchase orders provided to the family for their necessary help, trade is kept in the normal channels in the community, and each family has the responsibility of selecting the merchant, carpenter, contractor, dealer through whom they wish to make their purchases."

"In all our endeavors we have enjoyed the wholehearted cooperation of local individuals, organizations, and agencies. The merchants of the community have been particularly cooperative. We are making every effort to complete our work in keeping with the needs of the individual family, recognizing that in many cases it is not wise to plan too hastily, since the entire future of the family may depend upon the plan developed for its rehabilitation. The courage and determination of the people of Monroe County have facilitated our job of bringing aid to those who need it."

"We know that we shall continue to have your personal support in our efforts to bring help to your neighbors in this community so that they may be restored to a life of hope, confidence, and self-reliance."

AT&T Authorized To Proceed With SAGE Project

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today authorized American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to go ahead with construction of facilities for the Air Force's multi-billion dollar SAGE project.

The commission at the same time blocked for the time being a proposal by AT&T to offer special discount rates to SAGE—and commercial customers—on multiple use of telephone and telegraph communications.

The construction permits issued to AT&T and affiliated Bell companies provide for the laying of additional underground cables and the building of new radio microwave relays in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

SAGE Semi-Automatic Ground Environment System calls for linking all of the military's radar warning devices into a semi-automatic network.

Canadian Dollar On Par With U.S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Canadian dollar, worth more than the United States dollar for 3½ years, slipped back to an even footing with Uncle Sam's currency today. It reached its peak on Jan. 14 of this year when it was worth 3 11-16 cents more than the U. S. dollar.

Dope Addict Held As Thief

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—A man who police said switched from doctor to robber to obtain money for narcotics today was held on 17 robbery charges.

Acting Police Capt. Martin E. Joyce said Jerome Toupin, 45, seized yesterday after a $40 robbery of the Commodore Hotel on the North Side, told him he turned to robbery to satisfy a craving for narcotics.

Toupin told police he attended the University of Buffalo Medical School, graduating in 1933 and served his internship at St. Vincent's Hospital, Erie, Pa. Later, Toupin told officers, he was connected with the Mason County Hospital at Point Pleasant, W. Va., in 1938 and 1939. He said he left there late in 1939.

Flood Damage Surveys To Be Conducted

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 — Albright and Friel, Inc., a consulting engineering firm of Philadelphia, has been awarded a contract to conduct flood damage surveys in the Delaware Valley area beginning next Monday, according to Col. Allen F. Clark, Jr., district engineer, Philadelphia District, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army.

Two survey parties will be used to locate the high water marks throughout the damaged areas. The local people can best assist in this survey by permitting these surveymen access to their properties or across their properties to locate these high water marks.

Seven teams will be sent out to obtain detailed estimates of flood damage from local officials, local residents, commercial establishments, industries and utilities.

The study is to be completed and report filed with the district engineer by the end of December. This information will then be used in connection with flood control studies, being made by the Philadelphia District.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—Reopening of an area office at Port Jervis, N. Y., for flood disaster relief work was announced today by the U. S. Army District Engineers.

The Army Engineers office here said preliminary reports after last weekend's heavy rains indicated damages in the upper Delaware River watershed somewhat comparable to that from the flood in August.

The Port Jervis area office will cover Wayne and Pike counties in Pennsylvania and Sullivan County in New York. Other Delaware River watershed damages should be reported to the Easton, Pa., office.

C-D Leaders Meet Tonight

KEY CIVIL Defense personnel today will receive forms from which officials hope to get a comprehensive picture of Civil Defense work done during the Aug. 18 flood emergency.

The forms will be passed out at a meeting of Monroe County's C-D directors, division heads and other key personnel at 7:30 tonight at the courthouse.

Paul M. Craven, the county's C-D director, said the forms should be filled in with a chronological report of episodes and events as well as a complete listing of all volunteer workers.

Also to be distributed at tonight's meeting will be an information circular, describing a bill unanimously passed by the General Assembly which provides for compensation for all volunteers who are injured and are not eligible to receive benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law.

Fully Enrolled Workers
Craven explained that the new law applies only to workers who are fully enrolled in a Civil Defense agency. It will be the duty of each director, as well as the county C-D office, to maintain a complete file on all active personnel.

Craven also reported that the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot has a large amount of surplus lumber which is being turned over to Civil Defense agencies without cost. Counties or boroughs receiving this material must furnish transportation and at least one man to help load the lumber.

There will be a county-wide meeting of C-D auxiliary police at 8 p. m. Oct. 25 in the East Stroudsburg Junior High School auditorium.

At that time, personnel will seek to determine how the content of the present state course meets the requirements for disasters and what supplementary instruction should be included.

Governor To Participate In Economic Development Conference For 19 Counties

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19 (AP)—Gov. Leader today disclosed plans for a three-day trip next week to find out first hand just what is needed for industrial development in Pennsylvania.

He will go to Wilkes-Barre Monday to exchange ideas with leaders of government, business, industry, labor and industrial development organizations from 19 counties.

On Tuesday, he plans to do the same thing at Erie, with seven counties being represented. Johnstown will be the site of a similar meeting for 20 counties on Wednesday.

Seeks Support
"I have given economic development and particularly industrial development a top priority in the program of my administration," he said in a statement.

His trip was viewed as a means of drumming up sentiment in behalf of administration-backed legislation to create a state industrial million dollars to spend on creating industrial sites to attract new industry to distressed areas in the state.

Leader said he would be accompanied to the series of conferences by William R. Davlin, secretary of commerce, and John R. Torquato, secretary of labor and industry.

The governor's office said the industrial development legislation, already passed by the House, would be discussed in length at the three meetings.

Wage Earners Prosperous, Says Nixon

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Vice President Nixon said tonight the American working man never fared better than he has under the "dynamic conservatism" of the Eisenhower administration.

"American wage earners today have more jobs, at higher wages, with greater purchasing power and less strikes, than at any time in history, and they have peace to boot," Nixon said in a speech prepared for the New York group of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America.

The Eisenhower program, he added, is based on the principle of the federal government working in partnership with private enterprise and state and local government.

"We believe the way to real progress and prosperity is through programs which rely primarily on private rather than government enterprise," he said.

In another address prepared for the bankers' meeting, William McCleskey Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said the nation is "on the open road" to continued prosperity and a better life if economic safety rules are observed.

Martin went on to say that much had been done in recent years to free the nation's markets of "straitjacket" economic controls, and that this had benefited the economy.

But he warned that "free markets, like free economies, have a way of going down as well as up, and thus reminding us that our system is one of profit and loss, entailing penalties as well as rewards."

Nixon told the bankers the federal government should step in only where the job cannot be done more effectively by private enterprise or local government.

He said this is the major difference between the Eisenhower approach and the "federalized" programs of preceding Democratic administrations.

"Their basic theory was that every problem would be solved by government action," he said.

"If we had continued the spending and tax programs of the previous administration," he continued, "40 billion dollars would have been added to the national debt in four years."

Southern Governors Agree Republicans Face Tougher Task In 1956 Without Ike

POINT CLEAR, Ala., Oct. 19 (AP)—Southern governors disagreed today on what the Democrats might do in 1956, but all concurred the Republicans will have a far tougher time should President Eisenhower not be a candidate.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas again predicted that Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 candidate, would not be renominated. He said he felt a man acceptable to Southern conservatives would be chosen.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia indicated he believed Virginia will return to the Democratic fold in 1956 provided President Eisenhower is not a candidate.

Middle-Road Candidate

The Virginian conditioned his prediction on whether the Democrats named a candidate "not too far to the right and not too far to the left."

And Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma said he felt the Democratic presidential candidate would win, regardless of whether Eisenhower seeks re-election.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, one of the two Republican chief executives attending the 21st annual Southern Governors' Conference, agreed the GOP would have a hard time winning without a candidate of "Eisenhower's philosophy." He said this would be particularly true if the GOP candidate had an isolationist or reactionary background.

Favors Southern

Stanley said he favors formation of a Southern coalition to choose a candidate "the South can actively support," and to work for "a moderate platform."

The Virginian indicated he would support Stevenson should the 1952 standard-bearer be renominated.

Shivers told newsmen, "The national convention will name the nominee—and he will not be nominated before the convention." But he said he is convinced Southern conservatives will try to reach an accord designed to give the South a stronger voice in the selection of the presidential candidate.

Modern Art Described For Lions

FULL APPRECIATION of "modern art" was the main topic at a meeting of the Lions Club of the Stroudsburg this week.

The speaker was Dr. Robert Wollach, He is chairman of the Lafayette art department.

Using portraits by celebrated artists as a guide, Wollach demonstrated that all artists seek to convey a message in their work. By minute study of the work at hand—including planes of color and highlighting—the true message of the painting is transferred to the viewer, he said.

The speaker was introduced by Edward Driebe, program chairman. A report on ticket sales for the Endicott Johnson Chorus concert was made. The chorus will appear at Stroudsburg High School on Friday, Oct. 28. Tickets are on sale from all members of the club.

A special report meeting of the club's disaster committee was held after the regular club meeting. The committee is administering a fund accumulated by Lions to relieve suffering and hardship among victims of the flood.

Although eggs are sold in cartons in most cities of the United States, shoppers in some cities, such as Mansfield and Columbus, Ohio, and Wichita, Kan., are apt to carry their eggs home in a paper bag.

State Official Arrested On Driving Charge

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19 (AP)—William D. Thomas, secretary of property and supplies, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving when his state-owned automobile tumbled over an embankment today.

Justice of the Peace William F. Vetter said the charge was filed against Thomas by Policeman Robert Wetzler of nearby Camp Hill. If convicted, Thomas will be subject to a $25 fine and the possibility of suspension of his operator's license.

Fred T. Long, Lower Allen Twp. patrolman, who investigated the accident with Wetzler, said it occurred near a Pennsylvania Railroad bridge dividing Camp Hill and Lower Allen Twp. in Cumberland County.

Thomas, who received leg injuries, was under doctors care at his apartment in Harrisburg.

Thomas, a Sharon wholesale florist, was named to Gov. Leader's cabinet with the change of administration last January.

Thomas, 47, reached at his home, told a newsmen:

Probably In Hurry
"I was probably in a little hurry. That was the trouble."

Asked why he was using a state-owned car at that hour of the night, he said he was enroute to a point on Route 15 "to pick up a friend who had called me." He said the friend's car had broken down.

Thomas said he didn't know at this point whether he would fight the arrest.

Dr. Perry Stearns will be out of town from Oct. 9 thru Oct. 18—Adv.

100 MPH Runaway Truck Rams Two Other Vehicles, Bringing Death To Five

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 19 (P)—A big runaway truck careened nine miles down U. S. 40 from the top of Big Savage Mountain today, hit the west outskirts of Cumberland at 100 miles an hour and killed five persons when it smashed a car and another truck.

"I prayed to God someone would call the state police and get the road clear," said Paul Stewart Myers, the 25-year-old driver from Dover, Pa. He had a cut under one eye, some bruises, and a sore back.

Police questioned him two hours before he was admitted to a hospital for observation. No charges were filed against him immediately.

Four Die in Car

The truck loaded with 20 tons of aluminum sheets bound from Youngstown, Ohio, to Lonaconing, Md., blew a tire as it hit a curve at Allegany Grove on the west edge of Cumberland.

It lurched along the shoulder of the road through two front yards, clipping a power pole and an eight-inch tree.

Clifford Fearer, 38-year-old assistant manager of the Cumberland Steel Co., apparently had pulled out to the side and was almost stopped in an effort to get out of the truck's way.

But it crunched his sedan to pieces and the gas tank exploded. Fearer perished along with three neighbors he was driving from Frostburg, Md., to their jobs in Cumberland.

The three were Francis X. Spearman, 59, clerk in the office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Cumberland superintendent; Miss Nellie Thomas, 31, cashier and payroll clerk at the Buchanan Lumber Co.; and Miss Grace Evelyn Lloyd, 35, also a clerk for the B&O.

A hundred feet beyond, the runaway overtook another tractor-trailer carrying a bulldozer to a new housing development. Samuel J. Breneman, excavating contractor from Springs, Pa., was just turning off the highway when his rig was smashed from behind. Breneman was decapitated.

Sgt. William F. Baker, a Maryland state police investigator, said Myers told him his brakes went bad at the top of Big Savage Mountain, three miles west of Frostburg.

Myers estimated he was doing 80 or 90 miles an hour when he

Automation Held Essential To Meet Demand For Goods

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (P)—Two electronic manufacturers yesterday pictured automation — the increased use of automatic processes in industry — as essential to meet the nation's growing demands for goods.

"Two union spokesmen, while describing greater automation as probably desirable in the long run, cautioned that it may bring many problems to workers displaced from their jobs.

The view that a growing population will demand more goods than the nation can produce without increased reliance on automation processes was voiced by Don G. Mitchell, chairman and president of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., and Robert C. Tait, vice president of the Stromberg-Carlson Co., a division of General Dynamics Corp.

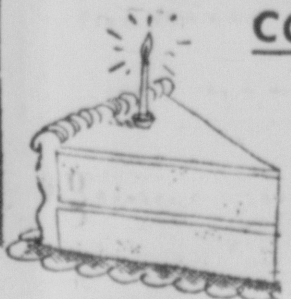

"I not only do not even remotely fear that mechanization or automation will cause unemployment," Mitchell told a Senate House economic subcommittee. "But I am concerned about the strong probability of a labor shortage in the years ahead unless the rate of mechanization is increased."

roared through Frostburg, 11 miles west of Cumberland. The highway drops from 2,200 feet above sea level at Frostburg to 600 feet at Cumberland. In bygone days many trucks have gotten loose on the steep grade, with drivers usually ditching them around Eckhardt mines.

"It didn't enter my mind," Myers told Baker.

He said he took to the center of the road and gunned his engine in the hope of raising some air pressure in the brake system.

Industrials Set Pace For Good Advance

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Stocks made a good advance today in a more active market.

It was the fourth straight rise for the market, and it now stands comfortably above the lows of last week reached in the great break that started Sept. 26 on announcement of the President's illness.

The market now is beginning to take notice of good news. For a long time, no matter what happened, the market insisted on going down. Selling excuses were grabbed and made the most of while good news that offered a buying opportunity was ignored.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.20 at $168.30. The low of the reaction was $163.40. The break had started from the record high of $181.50 reached Sept. 23.

Railroads Rise
The industrial component of the average today was ahead $2.30, the railroads were up $1.60, and utilities lost 10 cents.

The market wasn't especially broad with 1,128 individual issues of which 638 advanced and 242 declined with 8 at new highs and 19 at new lows for the year.

Volume expanded to 1,760,000 shares from yesterday's 1,550,000 shares. Both, however, are well below the daily average of the year.

Curtis-Wright was the day's most active issue up 1/4 at 24 1/4 on 26,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 710,000 shares, the same as yesterday. Corporate bonds were down while U. S. government issues traded over the counter were higher.

Mrs. Wallach Hopes To Leave Moscow For U. S.

MOSCOW, Oct. 19 — Mrs. Erika Glaser Wallach, who spent five years in Communist prison camps, hopes to leave Moscow soon to rejoin her family.

She told reporters she expected to leave by train for Berlin. Beyond that her future is as clouded as were the circumstances of her arrest in East Berlin in 1950.

Mrs. Wallach, whose American husband Robert lives with their two children near Washington, D. C., told reporters she entered East Berlin — against the advice of U. S. consular officials — in search of her foster father, mystery man Noel Field.

She said she was held in solitary confinement 2 1/2 years, sentenced to death as a spy by a Russian military court in East Berlin in January, 1953 and sent to Moscow. She said her sentence was commuted to 15 years' imprisonment in July, 1953 and she was

School Lunch Program Faces One-Cent-A-Pupil Reduction

HARRISBURG, Oct. 19 (AP)—Dr. Ralph C. Swan, acting superintendent of public instruction, said today a reduction in federal aid will force a one-cent-a-pupil cut in the school lunch program.

"There doesn't seem to be anything else to do but cut back," he told a newsman.

Effective Nov. 1
A formal order reducing the per meal allotment from seven cents a pupil to six cents is being drafted for his signature tomorrow or Friday. The order would take effect Nov. 1 since October payments have already been made on a seven-cent basis.

However, Frances L. Hoag, chief of the department's school lunch and nutrition division, said the reduction in state aid does not mean all children automatically will have to pay the difference.

"It is possible some school districts which are operated economically will be able to absorb the penny and also they may be able to make it up in other help received from the federal government," she explained.

She attributed the state reduction to an expanded program, taking in more schools and more children and less money available from the federal government.

5,000,000 Monthly
Miss Hoag said that during the last school year just under five million lunches a month were served under the program.

"This year it looks from the data available and from the applications for participation that we have received that the figure will be a little over six million lunches a month."

About 1,600 schools throughout the state are registered for the current school year. During 1954-55 the total was 1,411.

Miss Hoag said the federal allocation to Pennsylvania for the school lunch program was $2,866,000 for the current school year or $130,000 less than last year.

"That's not enough to carry out last year's reimbursement through the school year. We have more

Suez Withdrawal Ahead Of Schedule

CAIRO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Withdrawal of Britain's garrison from the Suez Canal zone is ahead of schedule. The British Embassy here says 65 per cent of British forces have been withdrawn. Original plans called for withdrawal of 54 per cent by this time. Under the year-old Anglo-Egyptian agreement ending Britain's 72 years of control in the zone, Britain has another eight months to pull out the remainder of the 100,000-strong garrison along the strategic 104-mile waterway.

Kansas has 9,439 miles of railroad.

Smith Continues Lightweight Reign

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19 (AP)—Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati retained his world lightweight championship tonight, winning an unanimous 15-round decision over Jimmy Carter of New York in a bruising brawl in Cincinnati Garden before 9,000 fans.

Smith, who won the title from Carter on June 29 on a split decision, came back from a terrific 13th round mauling to win the verdict. Carter, who had won and lost the 135-pound crown three times, fought with his right eye closed from the eighth round on. He had suffered a deep cut over the optic in the third.

Dartmouth Ace Top Pass Catcher

By The Associated Press

MONTE PASCOE, a Denver boy who goes to college at Dartmouth, and Don Chandler, an Oklahoma Indian who migrated to Florida for his education, are the new leaders in two of the closest individual races in major college football.

When Pascoe caught eight passes against Lafayette last Saturday, he slipped ahead of Missouri's Hank Burnine in pass reception. NCAA Service Bureau statistics revealed today that Chandler's one 50-yard kick against Louisiana State gave him a slightly better season average than Bill Schmitt of Pittsburgh.

Pascoe now has caught 21 passes to Burnine's 20. Otherwise they are almost exactly even in the statistics. Burnine has a slight edge in yardage, 291 to 278, each has caught eight passes in a single game and two touchdown passes—and neither has been on the winning side this season. Pascoe's receptions have helped make Dartmouth's Bill Beagle the leading major college passer.

Chandler, a senior physical education student, has punted 13 times for an average of 47.2 yards and Schmitt 11 times for an even 47-yard average.

Southern California's Jon Arnett went to the top of the punt return class when he returned two Wisconsin kicks for 62 yards. He has a total of 210 yards in 10 returns. Arnett also leads in returns of all kicks with 19 for 420 yards.

Dale Hohl of Holy Cross is the new pass interception leader with five, but he has returned them only 16 yards.

Jim Sivick of Texas Christian retained the major college scoring lead by making seven points against Texas A&M.

Leone, DeAngelis Win

Buffalo Signs Easter On Conditional Basis

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The Buffalo Bisons of the International League said today they had conditionally purchased the contract of Luke Easter from the Charleston Club of the American Association.

Easter, a first baseman and outfielder with the Cleveland Indians from 1950 to 1952, will be the first Negro to play for the Bisons since 1938.

Average Easter batted .283 and had 30 home runs with 161 runs batted in for Charleston last year.

John C. Stiglmeyer, vice president of the club, said Easter's purchase is conditional in that it can not become effective until after the trading ban is lifted Dec. 1. He said if Easter is not drafted by a major league team by that time he will join the Bisons in spring training.

Trenton Clips ESSTC In Soccer, 3-2

Warriors Drop Second Straight Tilt

Trenton — East Stroudsburg State Teachers College went down to its second straight defeat of the current soccer season when Trenton Teachers battled to a 3-2 verdict here on their home grounds yesterday.

The win was the second straight for the host team, which now has one defeat and a tie on its record. ESSTC has one deadlock and a victory on its current register.

Trenton led from start to finish yesterday, but the Warriors applied pressure right up to the final whistle.

Ed Guthrie put the Jerseyites ahead after only one minute and 30 seconds when he dribbled the ball into the ESSTC goals from a skirmish in front of the nets.

Trenton held its slim advantage through the first half and then made it 2-0 after 10 minutes of play in the third round when Dick Richie trapped the ball in front of the goal and kicked it past the outstretched hands of Howard "Howie" Staeger.

Visiting Goal ESSTC began its uphill fight at 15 minutes of the third quarter when Bob Bright, from a corner kick, sent the ball in front of the Trenton nets and Glen Rodenbach, of Bethlehem High fame, "headed" the ball into the goal.

But, Trenton stretched its advantage to 3-1 early in the fourth and final period when Richie scored from close range.

ESSTC registered its second and last goal midway in the final period when Bright drilled a long shot toward the goal. The ball bounced off a defensive player and into the open nets.

The Warriors kept firing away at the Trenton goal in the fading moments of play, but they couldn't account for the equalizer.

ESSTC will remain idle now until Wednesday, November 2, when the Warriors battle Wilkes College, in Wilkes-Barre.

The nationally televised scrap earned more than $9,000 for each scrapper, who received the same amount of the purse and the airway fund.

Each fighter weighed 135 on the nose today as they weighed in, but both lost plenty of poundage in the mauling under the lights.

The decision was first announced as a split verdict in favor of Smith—the same way he won the laurels in the first title fight with Carter—but a recapitulation showed that one judge was confused in his addition and actually had given the nod to Smith while his card showed Carter the victor.

After 12 rounds of not too enthusiastic fighting, featured by Carter's body punching and Smith's left hooks to the head, the New York scrapper opened with a flurry in the 13th.

He battered Smith all over the ring for at least two minutes. Twice the ropes kept the champion from being decked.

But, with orders to "jab and move" from his shouting seconds, Smith weathered the storm and was punching merrily away in the next two rounds.

No Knockdowns

There were no knockdowns, but Carter's heavier guns had his foe rubber-legged several times. However, his single eye didn't give Carter enough vision for sharp shooting or evading Smith's sweeping lefts to the head.

Carter wasn't too upset over the loss, but asked dressing room visitors "How can you win?"

He said Smith, in their first fight, started slow and finished fast, but reversed the procedure tonight. Part of Smith's slow finish was due to Carter's incessant belting to the body.

Smith didn't have a mark on him at the finish, but Carter's manager, Willie Ketchum, said the cut on his boy's right eye lid would require stitches.

Smith said "Carter didn't hurt me as much tonight as he did in our first fight in Boston."

He added "I was hoping for a one-punch knockout—but couldn't make it."

The fight drew a gross gate of $20,441 with a net of $25,789.35 on a paid attendance of 6,693, promoter Sam Becker said.

Pro Gridders May Hold Early Draft

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said today there is a possibility the league would hold a draft selection meeting in mid-November with each team making its first three choices from the 1955 college crop.

Usually, the NFL drafts players at its annual meeting in January. But Bell indicated the first three selections probably would be made when he holds his regular meeting in late season to discuss probable playoff dates in event of conference ties.

No Secret

The commissioner said there would be nothing secret about the early draft. "We don't have anything to be secret about. We'll announce it if and when its set and everyone will have two weeks' notice."

He said the primary reason for the early draft would be to offset the possibilities of lawsuits between NFL teams and Canadian football promoters. He said it is not considered a weapon to combat raids on NFL selections by Canadian teams.

"We're trying to avoid the possibility of signing ball players already signed and vice versa," Bell said.

He explained that the position of the teams in the league race "at the time of the early draft" would determine the order of selections. Normally the teams with the lowest percentages draw first in the midwinter meeting with the champions picking last.

Strouds Name New Secretary

HAROLD Jacobsen, pitcher for the Strouds, pennant winner in the Bi-State Baseball League last season, was elected secretary of the organization during a meeting held at The Daily Record last night.

Jacobsen took over a vacancy in the club and went to work immediately.

A financial discussion and plans for the future also highlighted the gathering.

The next meeting of the club will also be held at The Daily Record on Wednesday, November 30.

Eagles Sign, Release Back

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League today picked up fullback Robert Goode of the Washington Redskins for the $100 waiver price.

At the same time, the Eagles released defensive halfback Roy Barni on waivers.

Steele, Warner To Be Guests At Little League Banquet

RAY STEELE and HARRY WARNER, two of Monroe County's young professional baseball players, will be guests at the Pocono Little League banquet to be held at Pocono Manor on Wednesday, November 2, it was announced yesterday.

Steele, former East Stroudsburg High athlete, pitched for Lancaster, of the class "B" Piedmont League last summer. Warner, former Pocono High athlete, has held down first base for Jacksonville, of the class "A" South Atlantic League for the past two years. Harry is a member of the Milwaukee Braves chain and Ray is the property of the Kansas City A's.

Mickey Vernon, first baseman for the Washington Senators, will be the guest speaker at the affair, while Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of all Pennsylvania Interscholastic Association officials, will serve as toastmaster.

Baseball fans in the area interested in attending the banquet are urged to purchase their tickets immediately, as they are moving at a rapid clip. Tickets are selling for $2.50 for adults, while students under 16 will be admitted for two dollars.

Remaining tickets may be purchased at Pocono Sports Shop and Onawa Lodge, in Barre, Al Wonsick is selling tickets in Tobyhanna, and Berne Cramer in Mount Pocono. Charley James has duets for baseball fans in the Pocono Lake region, while those people in the Tannersville area interested in obtaining tickets may do so from Harry Werkheiser.

Vernon One Of Twenty .300 Hitters In Major Leagues

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Baseball's sacrifice fly rule caused a general increase of 2.1 points in major league batting averages in 1955. However, even with the help of the "free" at bat, only 20 players hit .300 or better, three less than in 1954, when the regulation was revived after a 14 year absence.

Danowski Free From Grid Worries

EAST MEADOW, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—No worries, no alumni, no long nights of studying movies and scouting reports and no danger of losing his job—no wonder Ed Danowski is the happiest football coach you could find anywhere.

Danowski, who was left stranded when Fordham gave up football last December, now is physical education instructor and coach of two football teams at Meadowbrook Junior High in East Meadow, and is having the time of his life. He says he'd never go back to college coaching.

Former Star

Big Ed, a former star passer for Fordham and the pro Giants, endured nine pressure-packed seasons of coaching at Fordham. He never had the material to cope with Fordham's big time schedule. At this stage last season he was looking grimly ahead to games with teams like Miami, West Virginia and Syracuse. The alumni were breathing down his neck asking for victories, but they wouldn't turn out in sufficient numbers to prevent financial disaster.

Now Danowski has only two practice sessions a week for each of his teams, a game on Saturday morning and he's through work.

"No alumni, no spring practice and home by five o'clock for supper every night. Can you beat this?" Ed chuckles. "Why didn't somebody tell me about it sooner?"

Carnival Opens Tonight

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—A giant six-sport carnival, featuring the top performers in the country, will kick off the United States Olympic fund drive tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden.

Track, fencing, weight lifting, figure skating, wrestling and gymnastics will be on the program. Most of the participants will be trying for Olympic titles in Melbourne next year.

Big Attraction

The big attraction will be a mile race with Wes Saftner, America's hope for the four-minute mile, coming against a batch of his old rivals including Fred Dwyer and Horace Ashenfelter.

Sauer First Cub To Sign

CHICAGO, Oct. 19 (AP)—Outfielder Hank Sauer, 36, who had his poorest major league season this year with a .211 average and 12 home runs, today became the first player signed by the Chicago Cubs for 1956.

Presumably Sauer took a cut from this year's salary, guessed at $35,000, but it was believed unlikely he got the maximum slash allowed of 25 per cent.

Bears Set Pace In Yards Gained

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Chicago Bears have gained the most yards in National Football League competition so far this season, but the lead is very slim over the surprising Pittsburgh Steelers.

In official team statistics released by the office of NFL Commissioner Bert Bell, the Bears have rolled up 1,396 yards in four games—747 rushing and 649 passing. The Steelers are just 18 yards behind, with 1,378 gained 637 on the ground and 741 in the air.

The Baltimore Colts lead the league's 12 teams in rushing yardage, 776, while Philadelphia was No. 1 in passing offense, 872 yards gained.

Completions

Cleveland is No. 1 in percentage of pass completions, 60.8, though its average fell from last week's high of 63.9.

In punting, Los Angeles led for the second week with an 45.1 yard average per kick.

The top scoring team continues to be Cleveland with 199 points. Pittsburgh, tied with Cleveland for the leadership of the NFL's Eastern Division with a 3-1 record, has the best defensive rushing record, allowing opposing ball carriers to gain only 2.3 yards per try.

In aerial defense, Green Bay is tops having permitted only 32 of its opponents' 86 passes to be completed for a 37.2 percentage.

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

LADY LUCK continues to turn her back on the football fortunes at Stroudsburg High School. Roger Lane missed a lot of pre-season practice while having a cyst removed from his back. Gary Guthrie, like Lane a back, suffered a broken collar bone before the season started. Co-Captain Phil Newman is on the sidelines with a hair-line fracture of a vertebra and on Tuesday Ron "Super" Phillips and Doug Shook joined the injured list during practice.

Phillips, as revealed yesterday, suffered a dislocated left shoulder and will be out of action for the balance of the campaign. Doug Shook, big pass catching end, was kicked in the mouth and a cut resulted that required six stitches to close. Shook was also injured on Tuesday. There is a possibility that the offensive end, who is also a tower of strength on defense, may play against Whitehall. If he does, Doug will have to wear a facial mask. Newman is also probably finished for the season, although he hopes to play against Northampton and East Stroudsburg.

Guthrie has back in action and with the injury to Phillips will probably see more duty than originally planned. Lane has been one of the big offensive guns for the Mountaineers all season. Coach John Whitehead and his staff have run into one gigantic problem after another all season. If it hasn't been injuries, it's been bad breaks which in two ball games to date have robbed the Mountaineers of victory.

The Stroudsburg coaching staff now faces the terrible task of shuffling the lineup within a period of two days, to partially make up for the loss of Phillips and the possible loss of Shook for the Whitehall contest. It's tough enough to prepare for an opponent like the Zephyrs while at full strength, much less with injuries. But, one can never sell a staff, such as the one headed by Whitehead, short under conditions of this type. Each coach is well schooled and understands the game and his players.

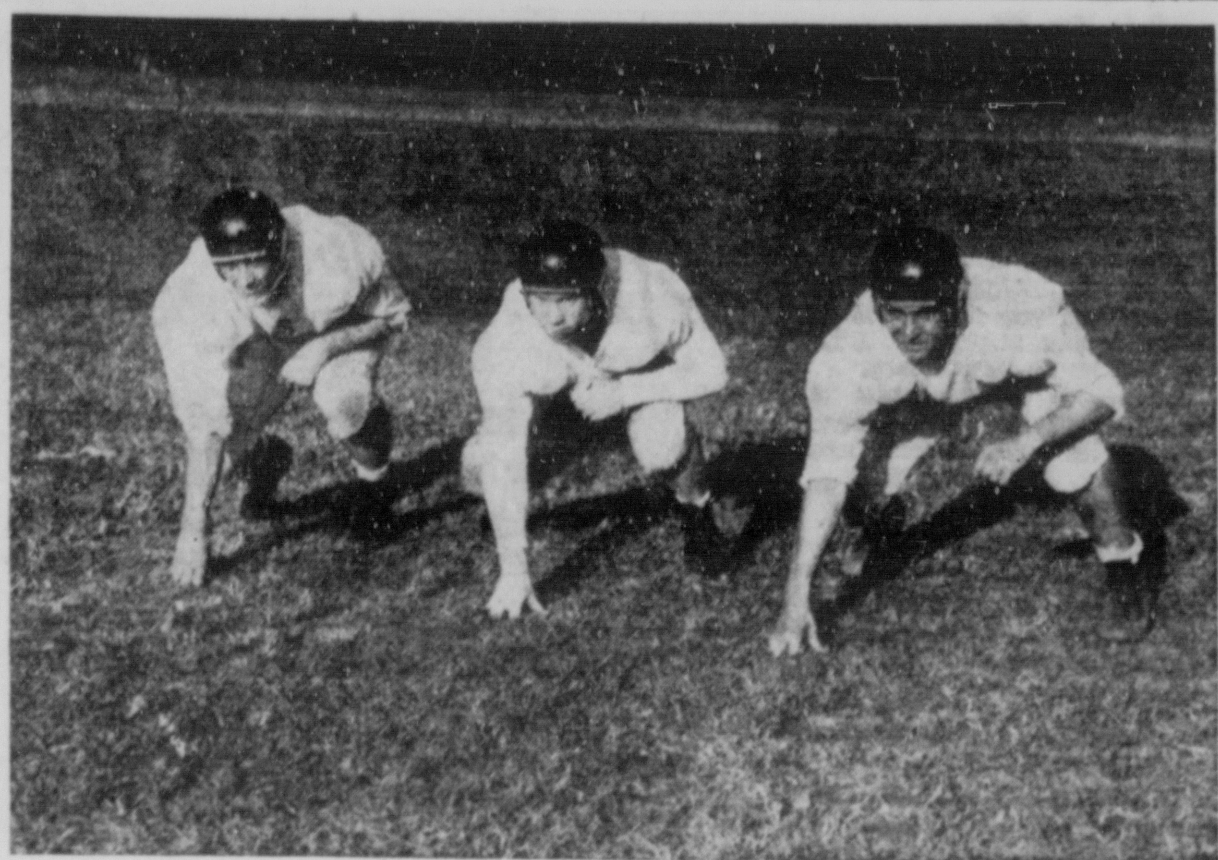

Marty Baldwin, a well known sports figure in the east, revealed the other day that Don Herman, former East Stroudsburg High end, was the best college wingman he's witnessed in action this season. This, according to Baldwin, includes end play in such schools as Army, Penn State, etc. Heyman, a sophomore at Muhlenberg, is the number one left end on the varsity squad.

Baldwin watched Herman do his stuff as Muhlenberg ran over Lebanon Valley on Monday, 37-6. Marty reports that Don blocked two punts, spilled a punter before he could get a kick off, made possible two touchdown runs with key blocks, tackled would-be passers behind the line of scrimmage several times and was on the Lebanon Valley quarterback all afternoon. Once Herman tackled a Lebanon Valley passer 16 yards behind the line of scrimmage before he could get rid of the ball.

Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, former three-letter athlete at East Stroudsburg High, scored all the points recently as Wyoming Seminary took the measure of the Syracuse freshmen, 15-12. Bob caught a pass for the first score, a play that covered 40 yards, and then ran 20 yards for the second touchdown. The Grove St. resident plunged through the line for the extra point after the second touchdown. Kupiszewski is the first string left halfback at Wyoming.

Sal Lopiano, former starting back for Pope Pius High, Roseto, is currently a patient at Easton Hospital. He will undergo surgery for a damaged knee cartilage. The injury occurred last week in a game with Belvidere High's junior varsity. Pope Pius, currently in its second year of football, is sporting a record of two wins and two defeats. The Royals failed to win a single contest last season, the first in the gridiron department. The Royals reportedly dedicated Tuesday's 28-0 nod over Washington N. J. Junior varsity to Lopiano.

Fans who witnessed Tuesday's game between Penn and Navy, in the East Stroudsburg Midlet Football League, are still talking about the contest. The terrific tackling and Penn's goal-line stands are still being discussed by East Stroudsburg spectators. We reported the other day that Gary "Jeep" Peckman, former East Stroudsburg High athlete, suffered a broken left hand while boxing in the Navy. We forgot to mention that Peckman is also just rounding into shape. After a fractured nose. Coach Jack Kist maintains that he never worked a football team harder than he did East Stroudsburg this week in preparation for Wilson. The Cavaliers took it all and will enjoy light drills the next two days.

Rickey Definitely Stepping Down As Vice President, General Manager At Pittsburgh

By Joe Bradis

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19 (AP) — Casey Branch Rickey, the guy who built pennant winners at St. Louis and Brooklyn but failed to give pennant-hungry Pittsburgh a championship club, definitely is bowing out November 1.

Rickey, now 74, and with more than 50 years in baseball, reiterated today that he intends to step down as general manager and executive vice president, at the termination of his five-year contract, for a younger man.

"What I told The Associated Press August a year ago still goes," asserted Rickey. "I'm not going to be general manager or vice president after November 1. I'm not changing my mind."

"I intend to stay with the club in some capacity, if permitted to do so, and I think I will be. I hope to devote my time or less to scouting."

Rickey's five-year contract with the Pirates called for a reported $100,000 a year. He had the option to renew it again for five more. The Pirates under Rickey have finished in the National League cellar the last four years and tied with the Cubs for seventh in 1951—Rickey's first year with the club.

Asked who will succeed him, Rickey replied:

"That I can't answer. But I'm working on it right now. I have Johnson, a Pittsburgh attorney is vice president and secretary."

Rickey, a shrewd observer of baseball talent made no bones last February about the fact he was high on three members of his staff. Two of them are still with him. The other—Harold G. Roetger—fled to Miami Beach (Fla.) pool and drowned several months ago.

That leaves Branch Rickey Jr., vice president in charge of minor league clubs and players, and Joe L. Brown, son of movie comedian Joe E. Brown, who is with the club in an executive capacity.

Branch Jr. got his baptism in baseball under his father in 1935 at St. Louis and spent four seasons there before moving up to Brooklyn to handle the Dodgers' minor league organizations on his own. Branch Jr. came eight years later.

Brown first met Rickey at the age of 16. And Rickey has kept his eye on Brown ever since. He too has served in various minor league capacities before becoming president of the New Orleans club of the Southern association. Rickey awarded Brown a Pirates' job after the sale of the New Orleans club to a group of businessmen there. Brown rates very high on Rickey's list.

A CHEESE SALE

THE SALE of cheese, one of Wisconsin's leading dairy products, got a novel boost recently when the state's "Alice in Dairyland," Mary McCabe, dropped in on a grocery store in Hartland. A customer marked a piece of cheese he thought would weigh a pound. Miss McCabe then cut off the part he marked. If he guessed right within an ounce, he got the cheese free. If he didn't guess right, he bought the cheese. Store sold a lot of cheese.

Mary and Luann Goerke look at news story of their visit.

How SUNBEAM ENERGY helps your child gain that

"New" Feeling

When your young Miss is gay, eager and alert, you know she's got that "new" feeling that comes from vital food energy.

Nutritional authorities say the easiest and least costly way to make sure of this vital food energy is to eat the right amount of good, enriched bread — like Sunbeam — at every meal. Active youngsters and especially fast growing teen-agers need an unusual amount of vital food energy — energy that's released as they need it.

Sunbeam Energy is lasting. Its energy is released slowly and with it you get full energy — the proteins, vitamins, and minerals needed for glowing vitality and health. Protect your family's health. Serve two slices of fresh, flavorful, enriched Sunbeam Bread to everyone, at every meal. Fresh at your grocer's today.

helps protect family health

All four kinds of food energy are not the same. Quick energy foods don't last. They pick you up, then let you down. Many are also "empty energy" foods. They give you little or none of the minerals or vitamins.

Sunbeam Energy is not only lasting—it is also full energy food — giving proteins, minerals and vitamins.

Make sure your children, especially your teen-agers, get extra servings of Sunbeam Bread. Eight to ten slices every day gives 30 to 40% of daily needs of vital energy.

Sunbeam Bread is Economical

1/3 of the foods America buys are "empty energy" foods — wasted nutritionally. Serve more Sunbeam Bread. Save money. Protect your family's health.

Two Fast, Lightweight Trains To Set Pattern For Railroads Of Future In United States

By John F. Sembower
Central Press Correspondent

CHICAGO—The two new high-speed lightweight trains which seem sure to set the pattern for rail travel of the future in the United States are being rushed into service and soon will be having their debuts on railroads throughout the country.

Each has had its premier showing here before admiring throngs. The famous Talgo design, borrowed from European railroads and particularly those of Spain where the new type train was pioneered several years ago, before December will be running regularly between Chicago and Peoria, Ill.

The Electro-Motive division of General Motors showed off its sensational "motor coach on rails" idea at its Powerama exposition staged on the lake front here, and the 10-car train is expected to go into production immediately.

Virtually identical single-unit Diesel engines will power both of the new designs. The chief difference is that the Talgo train articulates the cars over a single track between the cars, while the General Motors design is a four-wheeled rail adaptation of the GMC Truck and Coach division's 44-passenger highway vehicle.

Orders Placed

New trains in one or the other of the new styles are expected to appear first on the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Rock Island, and New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads, which already have filed orders. ACF Industries is making the Talgo cars, and will join with the Budd company and Pullman-Standard in making the GM design.

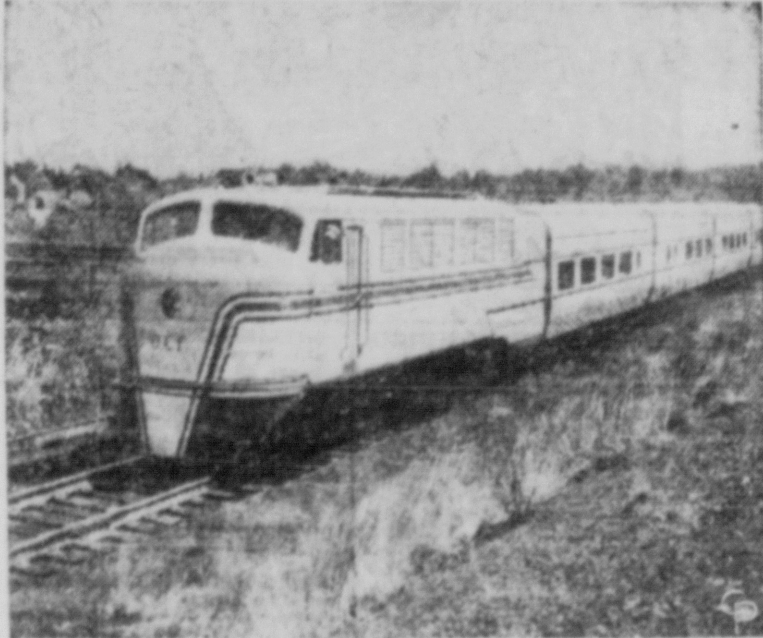

All of this is the result of a lot of co-operation on the part of the railroads which are seeking to reduce the industry's reported passenger deficit of $700 million a year. Competition from buses and the airlines is hastening the move.

The GM Aerotrain design lowers the floor level of the cars by 18 inches, and still leaves room for luggage space above the rails. Passengers will put the bulk of their baggage into the space from the outside as they now do on most cross-country buses, although there still will be small luggage racks overhead in the cars, as on airlines.

They will get a 100-mile-an-hour "air ride" on eight rubber bellows that are designed to eliminate road shock. Both the GM and Talgo designs feature vibrationless rides with "self-compensation" on the turns to cut out the leaning of the cars.

American Car and Foundry's Talgo train.

General Motors' Aerotrain.

The Aerotrain has pantries at the end of each car from which stewardesses will serve lap meals like those the airlines have featured from the beginning, but the Talgo design retains a diner and lounge car in its four-car unit.

Seats are thinner and cushioned with foam rubber on both trains, and all the cars are air-conditioned. The modern design is said to cut the cost per seat in the new cars to $900 and $1,000, compared with $2,500 on the old style. The plan is for the railroads simply to discard the cars when they need renovation, rather than to undertake the expensive rebuilding that the heavier investment in conventional cars required.

The same Diesel unit has been tried on both trains, and the Rock Island will use it to haul the Talgo on its first runs soon. It has a single 12-cylinder engine that develops 1,200 horsepower.

At the present price of fuel oil delivered to a train in Chicago, the new Aerotrain can haul 400 persons from Chicago to New York for approximately $125 worth of fuel, or about 32 cents per passenger.

The initial cost is high, however. The Rock Island is spending $775,000 for each of its new Talgo trains that will soon be seen hurtling along the rail on their runs to Peoria, Houston, Tex.; Denver, Colo.; and Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.

Set Out Fruit Trees Now; House Plants Hit By Low Humidity

FRUIT TREES: Fall's a fine time to set out some fruit trees. Quite often we hear gardeners say: "What's the use of planting fruit trees... you have to spray them too much..." they're such a bother." We don't like this sort of thinking because we now have all-purpose sprays which will do the job of producing the kind of fruit you can eat in the dark, without biting into a worm. Hundreds of our readers raise fruits without a bit of spraying. They have enough fruit produced for themselves and for the worms.

In planting a fruit tree, dig the hole large enough to spread roots without crowding them into a ball. Plant the tree 2 inches deeper than it grew in the nursery, with the bud or graft 2 inches below the ground level. Fill the hole 2-3 full of topsoil firmly tamped around roots. Pour in a bucket of water, and allow it to seep away. Fill the hole with more soil and leave a "saucer" depression around tree to catch rain water. Give a couple more soakings before water sets in. Do not prune your trees in fall. Wait until spring and cut the branches back 1-3 to 1/2. Remove narrow angled limbs as they form weak crotches. FREE: If you're puzzled about how a fruit tree should be pruned, send The Green Thumb, Naples, N. Y.

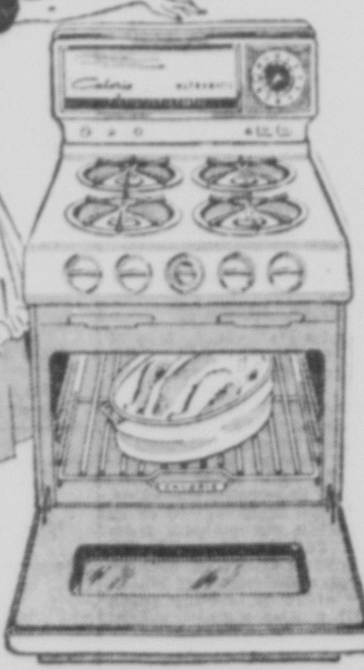

a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of our bulletin on the subject. Do not send postal cards, friends. We cannot acknowledge them.

House Plants: If the leaves of your house plants have "scorched" edges it may be due to low humidity in your home. Hot, dry rooms aren't fit for man or plants. The truth is, air in most homes is drier than the air in the Sahara Desert in Africa. The proper humidity level in the home is from 35 to 40 per cent, and the air in the average home in winter often goes as low as 12 per cent relative humidity.

This is 8 to 11 per cent lower than the average relative humidity in the Sahara Desert in the summer. You can help increase the humidity by using evaporating pans on radiators, or pans of water near hot air ducts. The old kitchen kettle used to do a great job putting moisture back in the air, and it might be a good idea to get these back in circulation. Pebbles set in a pan of water make a good place to rest plants on.

Plants themselves are healthy in the home. They give off moisture, take up carbon dioxide gas (a human waste product) and

Conservation Measures Advocated

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Delaware Valley Council announced today adoption of an educational program "designed to arouse the interest and gain the cooperation of the people of the Delaware River watershed in the conservation of its natural resources, particularly water."

The announcement was made by James V. Baney, chairman of the board of governors, after a meeting of the 35-man board, comprised of leading business and civic officials of the Philadelphia metropolitan, south Jersey and state of Delaware areas.

"The past year has alerted the public to the untold havoc wrought in our tri-state area by the two fierce forces of nature—floods and droughts," Baney said. "The tremendous destruction following Hurricane Diane and additional floods last weekend point up the need for immediate and long range action."

With the bus trip of 29 persons to the UN, conducted by Miss Lillian Stark, Thursday, were Mrs. Francis Drake, Mrs. George Hauser and Miss Nellie Burd. They are most enthusiastic about the trip and said they found it even more interesting than their high school anticipations. All commented on the extraordinary skill of the "simultaneous translators" in the Conference Rooms who talked along as rapidly as the foreign speakers and yet heard correctly what those speakers were saying so that their translation was hardly a second behind the original words.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernon Albert, who have a motel on Foxtown Hill Road, plan to go to Florida for the winter, leaving Dec. 1. They look forward to seeing their sons. The elder one is a research chemical engineer in Alabama. The younger son, Ronald Albert, is now at Moody Bible School in Chicago studying to be a Baptist minister and to go as a missionary to a foreign country.

Newsprint Price Hike Held Unwise

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., said today the increase in the price of newsprint by a major Canadian manufacturer was neither "wise nor justified."

Williams, in a statement, commented on the announcement yesterday by St. Lawrence Corp., Montreal, of a rise of $5 a ton in newsprint, effective Nov. 1. The increase brought the price for St. Lawrence customers to $131 a ton, delivered in New York.

MR. AND MRS. J. James motor ed up from Mount Holly, N. J., Monday to spend the day with Mrs. H. W. Brodhead. With them was their year-old son, John Michael. Mr. James is employed with the new turnpike construction works.

C/GM Donald Hauser, who has been teaching gunnery at Princeton for several years, has received orders to transfer to Norfolk. Mrs. Hauser will make her home there and Donald will be on the destroyer U.S.S. Eaton which will be on cruises. Letters from Lt. Sylvia Hauser, who is at a Navy hospital in California, indicate that she enjoys the novelty of apartment life, made necessary by the great number of nurses to be housed. Sylvia sent home an amusing (or irritating) clipping from a California newspaper which was headed "a feud" between the Stroudsburgs. It also had a photograph of the burning of the Miller Furniture Store upholstered furniture.

With the bus trip of 29 persons to the UN, conducted by Miss Lillian Stark, Thursday, were Mrs. Francis Drake, Mrs. George Hauser and Miss Nellie Burd. They are most enthusiastic about the trip and said they found it even more interesting than their high school anticipations. All commented on the extraordinary skill of the "simultaneous translators" in the Conference Rooms who talked along as rapidly as the foreign speakers and yet heard correctly what those speakers were saying so that their translation was hardly a second behind the original words.

Mr. and Mrs. Fernon Albert, who have a motel on Foxtown Hill Road, plan to go to Florida for the winter, leaving Dec. 1. They look forward to seeing their sons. The elder one is a research chemical engineer in Alabama. The younger son, Ronald Albert, is now at Moody Bible School in Chicago studying to be a Baptist minister and to go as a missionary to a foreign country.

Wives Are Wives World Over, Says Russian Newsmen

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—A visiting Russian journalist maintained today that wives are wives the world over, and just as stubborn under communism as they are under capitalism.

Anatoli Vladimirovich Sofronov, manager of a Soviet magazine, was among five Russian journalists who visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

He saw a man copying an oil painting and asked him through an interpreter why he was doing so.

"I want to prove to my wife that I can paint," replied the American, Daniel Dunlop, a cattle farmer from Williston, Fla.

"All wives are the same," sighed Sofronov. "You have to prove everything to them."

Former Local Pastor's Son Speaks Here

REV. ORION A. Eichner, pastor of Forks-Arnot Evangelical Lutheran parish, Easton RD., was the guest speaker at the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The speaker, presented by Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, is the son of the late Rev. Dr. Floyd L. Eichner, a former pastor of St. John's Church, Stroudsburg. Dr. Eichner was a charter member of the Kiwanis club and the only member to serve two full terms as president.

Rev. Eichner spoke on "The Most Unforgettable Character I Ever Met." He told of this character having been born of humble parents in a manger in a stable.

He traced the character as one who had been rejected at Bethlehem, Nazareth, Jerusalem and on Calvary yet retained his strength. He was sincere, yet insincerity permeates society in a world of half truths and dishonesty. His ideals of life were high, discounting religion as a killjoy as related by many.

Tremendous Influence

"As a minister, He is my favorite and has exerted a tremendous influence on the world today. Jesus Christ is the most wonderful character this world has ever met," the speaker concluded.

Detlef A. Hansen, the president, and a delegation of local members will visit the Caldwell, N. J., club Thursday, Oct. 27. Hansen will be guest speaker at that time.

President Hansen informed the club, the disaster fund of the club would be retained until the Red Cross had completed its work here when the club's fund would be used to supplement the work accomplished. The fund will be distributed by a project committee headed by Parke W. Kunkle. A number of projects are under consideration, he said.

The club nominating committee, also headed by Kunkle will present a slate of candidates for the coming year at the meeting next week. The election takes place the following week.

It was announced the local club had been invited to meet with the Scranton Club Nov. 2, when a delegation of 25 guests from the Syracuse, N. Y., club will attend. The local club will send a delegation to the Clinton, N. J., club Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 7 p. m.

Britain's Support Of Yugoslavia For Seat In U. N. May Prove To Be Very Smart Action

By J. M. Roberts

Associated Press News Analyst
Great Britain is being criticized in the United States for supporting Yugoslavia's addition to the United Nations Security Council, which could turn out to be a very smart action.

There is a tendency in the United States to speak of "splits" on tactical diversities in almost the same tone of voice in which fundamental differences between the Allies are discussed. But there is a vast difference between differences over procedure and over strategy, such as that between Britain and the United States in the Far East.

Major Agreement Ignored

Oddly enough, the reasons given by Britain and others for supporting Yugoslavia against the American choice of the Philippines have skipped what seems to me to be the major argument in favor of Yugoslavia's seating.

Soviet Russia proposed Yugoslavia as a compromise after being beaten on Poland. Russia is trying to consolidate recent surface renewal of friendship with Yugoslavia. To many Westerners, that is reason enough for them to oppose.

Another is that, even after the Cominform break in 1948, Yugoslavia continued to vote in conformity with the Communist bloc in the U. N. But the tests were largely on social and ideological matters. Since she had no veto, her presence on the Security Council in 1950 meant merely one vote against the decision, in Russia's aggression during a walkout, to resist what happened to Russia during that walkout might well be remembered by France now.)

1946 Agreement

Probably the chief reason for British and British Commonwealth support for Yugoslavia is their desire to keep in effect the 1946 gentlemen's agreement for regional representation on the Security Council. That means there will always be a Commonwealth member besides Britain, although it also means an Eastern European member in addition to Russia.

But it also means under a rotation system, that Greece and Turkey, and perhaps later Austria, will get their turns.

The United States contends that although it has been generally applied, the gentlemen's agreement really covered only the first year of Security Council operation.

Some Europeans also pointed out that Europe is not heavily represented on the Council and, looking toward the future, that it would not have but one seat — that of France, without Eastern Europe.

The British also looked upon the move as a goodwill gesture toward Yugoslavia in the present contest for her affections between Russia and the Allies.

Actions Will Count

Overriding all this, however, is that putting Yugoslavia in the Council means she will have to stand up and be counted. What she does will reveal, far more clearly than any answer she may make to diplomatic inquiries where those affections really lie. Then the Allies can act accordingly with regard to economic and military aid, and the dependence to be placed on her policies.
